

American Indian Heritage Month

Paul “Che oke ten” Wagner

Native Flutist / Storyteller

November 4rd, 2015
in the Rotunda

12:00p.m. -1 p.m.

Paul “Che oke ten” Wagner is an award winning Native American flutist and internationally-performing presenter of the traditional songs & stories of his Coast Salish tribal ancestors. Che oke ten’s Coast Salish Native American flute sound is as though you are actually listening to the spirit of the Salish Sea, ancient forests and his ancestors that have lived here for 15 thousand years. His songs have come to him with visions of healing & prayer for all relations (tree people, animal people, and human people).

Che oke ten has shared the stage & collaborated with many prominent artists such as Kitaro, Bill Frisell, Eyvind Kang, Gina Sala, Andre Feriante & Seattle Symphony Orchestra. His international performances have included the Mongolian People’s Federation for World Peace Conference in Seoul, Korea, a recent successful six-city tour of Japan, & many venues in British Columbia. Currently in residence in the Seattle, WA area, he also performs extensively throughout the Pacific Northwest region of the United States. More information: <http://sacredbreath.cc>

For more information contact Brian Frisina: frib235@lni.wa.gov

Washington State Department of Labor & Industries